REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board and the Citizens of Campton:

As a new comer to your community I am making a study of the economic, social, and educational factors of Campton in order that I may correctly interpret your needs.

The school district of Campton conducts nine schools with an enrollment of two hundred-five pupils, and ten teachers. We have fifty scholars attending high school. According to the financial report of the school district for the fiscal year which closed the 30th of June 1933, it costs Campton over $21,000 a year to support public education. The sum just stated is a substantial amount when compared with the equalized valuation of the town. Considering both the financial and educational aspects involved in the bringing up of your children, we solicit your interest in the greatest enterprise carried on in your community namely, the education of all the children of all the people.

Since the opening of your schools last fall I have made frequent visits to contribute my share towards the education of your children. My contribution has consisted in the direction and supervision of your teachers' work in the class room, in providing and distributing the necessary books and supplies, in attending school board meetings, in making out the reports required by the school board and the state board of education, and in helping to meet and solve the numerous problems which are bound to rise within the educational system.

The schools of Campton are taught by well trained and experienced teachers. I am pleased to report favorably concerning the interest and work of our teachers in their respective schools. The schools are furnished with plenty of supplies, modern text books, dictionaries, maps, and adjustable desks and seats.

Eight of our schools are provided with a jacketed stove or a furnace. The children are provided with plenty of playground space. The health of the children is properly cared for by a competent physician and a competent nurse. The program of studies followed by the teachers is the one suggested by the state board of education, a program which is based on the best educational procedure of the day. Even though our teachers teach all the grades of the elementary schools, our pupils are graded. They are able to move from Campton to any other New Hampshire school system without having to be put back. The fact that we have fifty pupils attending high school successfully is a test in itself of the efficiency of our schools.

Campton is to be congratulated on the beginning which it has made in the way of partial consolidation of schools. We suggest that this policy of continued improvement be kept up for the next few years. Sooner or later the school district will consider some form of consolidation for the west side of the town. The question of school distance and transportation present no real difficulty to people living in homes located on roads which are passable the year round, with speedy bus service for school children who may enjoy the advantages of a consolidated school. People who are so situated have no reason to feel discriminated against in their civil rights, by the elimination of old type rural schools which have outgrown their usefulness.

The question of high school education in Campton is worthy of serious consideration. According to our financial report for 1933 it cost the town of Campton the sum of $5,144.25 to educate high school children. The sum just stated is not the full cost of high school education to the citizens of Campton. The children in question must be transported at an additional cost to the parents. Do the children of parents who cannot afford to transport their children receive equal educational advantages and preparation for life as the children of the other class of parents? How much of an opportunity to non-resident high school pupils have to take part in the social life of the school, in athletics, in dramatics, and in the numerous extracurricular activities which are a legitimate part of a child's education at the present time? When we consider Campton's possibilities for growth in the way of summer resorts, farming, and manufacturing, the establishment of a local high school would certainly be a great stimulus for progress.

When we consider the further possibility of consolidation in Campton, it does not seem to be worthwhile to spend any great amounts of money even to bring about improvements desirable in themselves in the present buildings, some of which are in great need of alterations and additions, until the school district decides on whether or not further consolidation is to take effect.

In conclusion I offer my training and experience to all the civic, social, and educational organizations of Campton. Seek my services and they are yours.

Respectfully submitted,

VINCENT GATTO,
Superintendent of Schools.
